

THE LIQUOR DEALERS' SIDE OF IT.

Mr. Cavanaugh Advises Them to Elect their Own Mayor and District Attorney.
Many liquor dealers of the Ninth Ward met yesterday afternoon at 220 Bleeker street to form a permanent organization. John Cavanaugh presided. He said that the trade was harassed by great difficulties. It was not considered the correct thing to nominate a liquor dealer for any high office, and when one was called for jury service general objections were raised to his being a witness. There was a way in which the dealers could make themselves respected. It lay through politics, and as they had been successful in getting their men elected to the County Board, they decided to do the same at least elect their Mayor and District Attorney. If Henry Causen or Jim Ryordan or any other great money man in New York desired him, he might be able to get it, but he was determined to remain in the Ninth Ward as long as there were a dozen of them keeping open on Sundays, but it was decided not to discuss the question. Messrs. Hale, Paper, Meyer, G. Clark, and others, who had been instrumental in the movement, made arrangements for perfecting an organization, and instructed to report at next Friday's meeting.

They Can't Write their Names.

Coronor Kennedy committed Raffaele D'Amato to the Tombs yesterday to answer for stabbing Francesco Dalcis. Coronor Kennedy asked Detective Brennan, who had testified to arresting D'Amato, if he would not be indicted. "I could not," answered Brennan. "I would not be in the police force. The police have their faults, but they are able to write."

Frank R. Sherwin Released.

Judge Donohue, in Supreme Court, Chambers, yesterday, granted a motion to vacate an order of arrest against Frank R. Sherwin in the criminal suit against him, and to grant him credit to the amount of the company's bonds, which it was alleged Sherwin had put upon the market illegally and fraudulently.
